public within their communities. Some of my other hopes and dreams is to create program to help young individuals to build stronger self-esteem and allow them to help others feel good about themselves.

A change in your life may be challenging but it could have great possibilities and give you steps to have a great adventure. A life trip can teach you to slow down, stop at a favorite restaurant, grow personally, take your idea's and share them with others. When you take a blank canvas and go to a place and say paint that, you can paint the picture of what your experience has given you as you have been there. This is giving you a completely new view point that will be unique to your great adventure.

“Opportunity is for everyone who tries and tries until successes worth it in the end”

MY GREAT ADVENTURES THROUGH CHANGE

Go through the image that I have painted in my head through my years of experiences. I have had many ups and downs. When I was a infant my parents were told that I may not make it. This caused a major change for my parents. I now live with the philosophy to live life to the fullest and learn from everything. I have just recently done a major change where I have moved out on my own. I want to seek out life... learn to do it on my own. I want to prove to everyone that letting go is not going to break me. I will make mistakes, but I will learn from my own great adventure.

SPECIAL POINTS OF INTEREST:

“Anything you truly wish to do as a person can be just about anything you wish to do.”

A WONDEROUS SECOND CHANCE

The unexpected could happen when you least expect it to while you are out living life. While experiencing troubles in your life you can get a much great understanding of how precious life is. No matter what go's on you learn to appreciate life for what it is and not for what you wish it could be. The trials you may face give you a second opportunity to live out each day to the fullest. All the wonders of your life are looked back on and remembered as a memory that will be held on to for many years to come. " The obstacles you face only remind you that you made it through each unexpected experience."

MY WONDEROUS SECOND CHANCE

My life has had its times where I came close to death but every near death event has help me live life to the fullest. I am making the most out of life by enjoying every minute of it by spending time with friends and family. My second chance at life is being lived by giving back to my communi- ty, and sharing my inspirations through my writing . This al- lows others to share their own personal experiences with my from their point of view and this in instil- ling strength in me to continue what I am doing and educate others on my experiences.

"Your dreams can be a job you wish to do or a career you wish to fulfil. "
